SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

culative consideration had first call in the local grain markets yesterday. While ere was no dearth of bullish news of the same kind which had been used to holster thes earlier in the week, neither wheat nor corn had sufficient support to prevent furdeclines from Friday's closing quotations. Many traders regarded the Government op report as buillish on the coming crop, but the effect of this was offset by the unnistakably bearish tone of the same document with reference to the harvested grain and volume of stocks in stors and in farmers' hands. With a better outside interest the e of the market would have been reasonably strong on the basis of most of the news ceived. Movements to market were not heavy, though it was reported that milling tivity in the Northwest was not as great as at the close of last week. Foreign mar-

The Financier says: The movement of money into the banks from the interior was quite large this week, and the traccable net receipts from this source were $9.006.800. The ordinary operasource were $9,006.800. The ordinary opera-tions of the subtreasury, instead of showing a loss to the banks, as has been the case each week since July 29, 1981, indicated the small gain to these institutions of $21,200. The receipts by the banks for new gold and for bonds purchased amounted to $1,050,700. Deducting $550,000 deposited by the banks in the subtreasury for transfer to New Or-leans left $419,700, nearly offset the $500,000 gold coin which was snipped to Europe January 3. The result of these various leans left $410.700, nearly offset the $500.000 gold coin which was shipped to Parces January 3. The result of these various movements was an estimated gain by the banks of $8.211.800 cash. The estimated increase in the previous week was $8.22.000, making the gain for the fortnight $17.53.800. The bank statement last week, however, showed an increase of only $5.637.500 cash. In the previous week this item was augmented in the official returns by only $3.457.800, making for the two weeks a gain of $9.955.300, as reported by the statements. There is, therefore discrepancy of $5.485.500 between the total estimated and the officially reported gain. It is impossible reasonably to account for this wide difference. If it was due to the system of averages in making up the bank statement, it would seem that the discrepancy of $5.164.300 between the estimated and the official statement of January 4 should have been partly, at least, reconcilled last week, and yet it is seen that there was then a further discrepancy of $1.274.300, making as above noted a difference of $1.430.900, making $1.400, making $1.400,

It is scarcely likely that the preliminary estimates of cash movements, which are carefully prepared, can be wholly responsible for the discrepancy, and it would seem to remain with the banks to show if they are so disposed, what has become of the cash which has been traced to these institutions. Loans were decreased last week by 15,20,800, probably reflecting liquidation of maturing contracts. Deposits increased 1778,500, or $150,800 more than the difference between the gain in cash and the less in loans. The surplus reserve was increased by $5,412,875, to $12,288,450, at the corresponding date a year ago the surplus was $22,38,450.

terbalancing Selling and Buying.

Despite much buildsh news there was the usual Saturday short session liquidation in grain yesterday and values worked lower, though both wheat and corn were steady at the close. At the opening there was considerable strength due largely to weather reports, which indicated serious drought in many sections of the winter wheat belt. While the Government crop report issued Friday was regarded as builtsh on the growing crop, its bearish complexion as concerning the old crap was taken full advantage of by the selling side. May wheat opened by the selling side. May what opened by the selling side. May wheat opened by the selling side. May wheat opened by the selling side. Selections, but it failed to induce any buying. The increase in cash reserves fell considerably sellow the estimates, in spite of a hope that last weeks similar shortage might have thrown a residue of gains over to this week by the system of averages used in computation. Known movements the standard an increase of over $8.50.00 ft. $50.00 ft. New York, Jan. II.-The small net changes
